

2025-2026 ENGAGEMENT AND OUTREACH SCHOLARS ACADEMY CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The Engagement and Outreach Scholars Academy \(EOSA\) provides professional development that enables faculty to develop mutually beneficial scholarship with an engaged community partner. The scholar and the partner complete the research as a response to community identified needs. The results of the engaged scholarship are shared to both the local community and the research community. Research products may include community workshops, local media reports, and ongoing community events, peer-reviewed scholarly presentations or publications and curricular materials. Extra-mural grant funding to continue or expand the engaged scholarship is also a goal. Previous scholars have partnered to evaluate issues related to water quality, coastal hazards, the impact of the arts on educational attainment, fitness and community health and wellness, fairness in transportation policy, math and reading literacy, and economic transformation through small business ownership. A complete listing of EOSA alumni and their research can be viewed online.

A successful scholar will:

- Have an active research agenda that contributes to their discipline and has an impact on the community;
- Demonstrate a clear desire to implement a research agenda that incorporates engaged scholarship;
- Have a desire to learn more about community engaged scholarship;
- Demonstrate the capacity to communicate with partners effectively and disseminate information to the community;
- Demonstrate strong interpersonal and professional communication skills;
- Demonstrate a commitment to actively participate in the program with a community partner, including the planning and implementation of the engaged scholarship project; and,
- Be a 1) Tenure Track or 2) Permanently Tenured faculty member or 3) Fixed Term faculty member with at least 5 years of ECU employment.

EOSA scholars engage in a series of workshops to prepare them for community-based scholarship. Faculty workloads are adapted to facilitate attendance at monthly Friday workshop dates during the spring and fall semesters.

EOSA project teams are composed of the faculty scholar, the community partner, a graduate assistant, two to three Brinkley-Lane Scholars, and an EOSA Coach. EOSA is in partnership with the Honors College to provide research learning opportunities for the undergraduate Brinkley-Lane Scholars enrolled in HNRS 3100. Graduate students and Brinkley-Lane Scholars will participate in the Student Engagement and Outreach Scholars Academy (SEOSA). This team is essential to the success of the EOSA projects and program.

Research proposals are mentored on how to construct an outline of the proposed project along with the anticipated roles and responsibilities for the EOSA scholar, community partner, BL scholars, and graduate student. The budget for the proposed project is funded by the Office of Engaged Research. Funding is contingent on university budget allocations.

At the end of the EOSA funding cycle, (project completion) the scholars are required to submit a proposal to present their EOSA project at a professional academic conference AND publish the findings in a refereed journal article or juried creative work OR submit a proposal to an appropriate external funding agency within 24 months of project completion.

The EOSA application and instructions are attached. All materials should be submitted electronically by the individual faculty applicant or faculty team as a PDF file to the Office of Engaged Research (communityengagement@ecu.edu).
