

“Mentoring the Next Generation of Postdoctoral Scholars”

Thursday
September 20, 2018
1:00-2:00 pm
Brody 2S-04

Tracy Costello, PhD
Director
Office of Postdoctoral Affairs
Moffitt Cancer Center

This session is geared toward faculty who mentor postdocs and graduate students and are engaged in career development planning for postdoctoral scholars.

Dr. Tracy Costello draws from an array of professional experiences to fuel her passion for improving the postdoctoral experience. She earned her doctorate in biomathematics & biostatistics and human & molecular genetics from The University of Texas MD Anderson UT Health Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences in Houston. During her postdoctoral training at MD Anderson Cancer Center, she served as the chair of her local postdoctoral association and on the NPA Board of Directors. She subsequently transitioned to staff positions in academia and industry. Dr. Costello returned to MD Anderson in 2012 to expand the Office of Postdoctoral Affairs and was subsequently recruited to Moffitt Cancer Center in 2017 to create a new office. She is the chair of the Board of Directors of the National Postdoctoral Association.
